

ALL JANESVILLE ATTENDS THE BIG FAIR TODAY

MAY SMASH RECORD FOR ATTENDANCE

CROWDS GATHER EARLY AT FAIR GROUNDS ON JANESVILLE DAY—BUSINESS HOUSES CLOSE.

BEST RACES OF WEEK

Four Fast Events With Big Fields on This Afternoon's Program—Rain Puts Track in Fine Condition.

All Janesville is at the fair grounds this afternoon. It was Janesville day at the fair and from the steady stream of people arriving at the grounds throughout the morning it was predicted that all attendance records for the Janesville fair would be broken. The stores, factories, offices and shops were closed at one o'clock to allow owners and employees alike an opportunity to attend the fair.

Aside from the usual fair attractions today's race program was promised to be the best of the week. Four big races were listed, the 2:15 class horse on the mile track with ten starters, the 1:18 class trot on the half mile track with eleven starters at the top; the 2:07 class horse on the mile track with seven starters, and the three year old trot with seven starters. The prizes for the first three races are $500 each, and $200 for the three-year-old.

Tracks in Fine Shape. The quarter mile horse stretch on the mile track at the local Park Association grounds is the fastest in the world and I have yet to see one that can beat it. This statement was made this morning by a prominent horseman who has been on the tracks all over the hemisphere. The light rain this morning came just at the right time in helping towards making the Janesville fair a grand success. Both tracks are in the best of condition and with the dust settled everything will be ideal for the afternoon.

Tomorrow's Race Program. A full racing program will be started Friday as one of the closing features of the fair. There will be four harness races. The 2:22 trot for a purse of $100 will be run on the mile track. A 2:35 class horse on the half mile track for a purse of $400 and the last race on the mile course will be a 2:12 pace for a purse of $500. A purse of $250 will be offered tomorrow for county horses that have not been trained or tacked in mile heats, on the half mile track.

The children will not be forgotten tomorrow. The school children will be taken for ponies under forty-six inches. At one-thirty o'clock the big stock parade will take place. It will be the biggest ever held at any fair in the state and will open the afternoon program for tomorrow. Both bands will render concerts and the free attractions will act on the stand in front of the grand stand.

POPE KEEPS WATCH OF IRISH SITUATION

Pontiff Reported to be Working for "Pacification of Ireland," Says Liverpool Post.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, Aug. 10.—The Irish situation is being followed by the Pope with the keenest interest, according to the Liverpool Post, which states that the pontiff is most anxious for the "pacification of Ireland."

The Pope and the statesmen of the Vatican are most anxious for what is described as the pacification of Ireland. This anxiety has been made known to the Irish Catholic hierarchy through the most direct sources, and of course it has not escaped attention. The rector of the Irish college in Rome has been in close association of late with the diplomats and statesmen of the Vatican and has conferred with divines who enjoy the Pope's confidence, including Cardinal Gasparri, who has recently been in England.

ALLIES ARE ADVANCING

Russian Advance in Galicia is Unstopped By the Combined Austrian-German Forces.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] News from the Isonzo front indicates that the army of the Duke of Aoste is rapidly following up his notable success won by the Italians in the capture of Gorizia with some twenty thousand prisoners. Italian troops are reported in force over the Isonzo, vigorously pursuing the retreating Austrians, whose big guns are being captured. Along the Somme, the British and French are making slow but reasonably steady progress in their thrust toward Spaunne and Peronne. Last night French troops pushed forward further in the Hem wood sector. The British pressure continues to be exerted northward from Pozieres, complete command of the ridge overlooking Bapaume. They made a new advance last night.

Important advance for the Russians in Galicia was announced today. General Letichitzky's army has pushed west of the Stanislau-Kolozna railroad line and cut the Stanislau-Nadvirna railway at Krypin. This progress for the Russians brings them to the southwest of Stanislau, where speedy evacuation by the Austrians is now considered probable, as the Russians are rapidly hemming it in.

MORE SLAV TROOPS ARRIVE IN FRANCE

Another Contingent of Russians Arrives Today at French Seaport.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Brest, Aug. 10.—Another contingent of Russian troops has been landed here. The soldiers were given an enthusiastic welcome. The first Russian troops to land in France arrived at Marseilles on April 20 having sailed half way round the world from Vladivostok. They were followed by three other contingents, and after a short rest were sent into the trenches at Champagne. Nothing has been made public officially as to the numbers of this Russian expeditionary force, but unofficial estimates have placed the strength of the first contingent at not less than 20,000 men. The earlier arrivals had no arms, and were equipped by the French.

RAIL STRIKE ISSUE BEFORE U. S. BOARD AT MEETING TODAY

Brotherhoods Remain Firm in Demands as Federal Mediators Hold First Conference.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Aug. 10.—The United States board of mediation and conciliation held its first conference today with representatives of the four railroad brotherhoods of employees in its efforts to prevent through mediation a countrywide strike to enforce the employees' demand for an eight hour basic day and time and a half for overtime. Brotherhoods Obdurate. Nothing was officially disclosed as to the success the mediators met, but it was learned on good authority that the brotherhoods had shown no disposition to modify their demands. "The status is unchanged," was the only comment which A. B. Garretson, head of the conductors' brotherhood, would make after the conference adjourned. "We have only scratched the surface," said G. W. Hanger, one of the three members of the mediation board—but by the 24th date cleared up within twenty-four hours, and the negotiations may continue for a week.

The United States board of mediation and conciliation intends to hold its first conference today with a committee representing the four brotherhoods of employees in their attempts to mediate the controversy between the railway men and the 225 railway systems over the demand for an eight hour day and extra pay for overtime.

Union Delegates Present. Today's meeting with the men was attended not only by the chiefs of the four brotherhoods—the employees' official spokesmen—but by the delegates of the union who are here. It lasted less than an hour. Outsiders were barred. It was assumed that the mediators, as was the case at the first conference, would be on the ground as basis of settlement.

The Brotherhood chiefs told them, however, it was learned that they were still firm for their demands as originally presented to the railroads. While expressing their appreciation of efforts of the mediators, it was said that they informed them that they saw little chance of reaching a satisfactory adjustment.

Mediators' Statement. The mediators, however, it was said, did not contemplate that the men would offer concessions at today's meeting. Most of the meeting was devoted by the mediators to a detailed explanation of the brotherhoods' demand upon which he made it clear, it was understood, that they stood firm.

TRY TO ASSASSINATE ARGENTINA PRESIDENT

Cable Confirms Report That President De La Plaza Was Assassinated Target July Ninth.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Buenos Aires, Argentina, Aug. 10.—It has been reported that the attempt made to assassinate President De La Plaza while he was reviewing the centenary celebration from the balcony of Government House on July 9, was reported by the Argentine government's recent refusal to condemn the sentence of two men condemned to death for murder. The assassin, Juan Fernandez, who is believed to be of unsound mind, was believed to have executed the two men was a "legal crime," which he fell victim to today. They were the first executions in the Argentine for more than fifteen years. With this exception President De La Plaza had himself always refused to sign death sentences, but he refused to interfere in these two cases because he deemed the murder a willful one.

The execution has already prompted opponents to capital punishment to introduce in Congress a bill to abolish capital punishment. The attempt to kill the President on the eve of his retirement in favor of the newly elected radical candidate, Dr. Grigoyen, created a great sensation. It was one of the culminating features of the week's celebration, was just concluding in front of the grandstand where stands had been erected for the occasion. These are the first executions in the Argentine for more than fifteen years. With this exception President De La Plaza had himself always refused to sign death sentences, but he refused to interfere in these two cases because he deemed the murder a willful one.

U-BOAT DYE CARGO AT $70 PER POUND

Rarer Colors Not Made in U. S. Yet to Bring This Price—None To Be Placed in Open Market.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, Aug. 10.—A circular issued here today by a dye importing firm quoting prices on dyes brought to this country by the German submarine Deutschland shows that some grades of the product are valued at 70 a pound. These are the rarer colors, not yet manufactured in the United States.

Local dye importers expected to receive their first shipment today from the cargo of the undersea merchantman. None of these colors would be placed in the open market they indicated, but would be supplied at once to regular customers, largely to meet the needs of mills and dyers.

AN OVATION IS PLANNED FOR JEFFERIS

CANDIDATE FOR UNITED STATES SENATE WILL BE PRINCIPAL HOME COMING SPEAKER.

WILL SPEAK IN PARK

Jeffris Club and Bower City Band Will Act as Escort From City Hall to Court House.

An ovation to Malcolm G. Jeffris, republican candidate for the United States senate, is planned for the evening by the Jeffris Republican club of Janesville, as a feature of the Home Coming celebration. Mr. Jeffris will be the principal speaker at the exercises, which will be held at the Court House Park beginning at 7:45. Secretary Hammarlund and President Welsh of the Jeffris club have issued a call to all members of the club to gather at the city hall at 7:15 o'clock this evening. Each marcher will be supplied with a flag. The procession will be headed by the Bower City Band and the march escorting Mr. Jeffris to the park.

The preliminary exercises at the park will be a concert by the Bower City Band, songs by Miss Gallagher, Miss Wenger and Robert Daley, and an address by Mr. Jeffris. It is expected that he will touch upon certain phases of the present senatorial campaign, although a large part of the speech will be devoted to the home coming and kindred topics. Inasmuch as this is the first speech by Mr. Jeffris in Janesville since the beginning of his campaign, it is probable that there will be a crowd of thousands gathered to hear his message. He speaks this afternoon at the home coming at Cambridge, Wis., and will arrive in Janesville early in the evening.

The detailed program for tonight follows: Bower City Band meet M. G. Jeffris at 7:15. Escort Jeffris to the Court House Park at 7:30. Band Concert at 7:45. Songs—Miss Gallagher, Miss Wenger and Robert Daley. Mr. Jeffris, main speaker of the evening.

Mid-air Gymnastic in the famous "The Famous Street Car Act," 10:00. Friday evening's program will include a song recital by Carrie Jacobs Phillips, an address by Governor Philip, and a series of head concerts and vaudeville attractions.

FIVE MILLION MEN IN WAR PRISONS

More Than Twice as Many Men Are Captives As Have Ever Before Participated in Any War.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Aug. 10.—More than 5,000,000 prisoners, double the number of men engaged in previous wars that the world has known are now confined in prison camps of the belligerent nations, according to all of the national committee of the Young Men's Christian association who arrived here today on the Danish steamer Oscar from Copenhagen. Dr. Mott left here in May for Russia and has visited the prison camps of nearly all countries at war. Dr. Mott said that the prisoners, Germany has the greatest number, approximately 1,750,000. Russia with about 1,600,000 comes next, then Austria with one million followed in order by France, Great Britain and Turkey. Russian prisoners, he added, are rapidly increasing, more than 400,000 having been added to camps since beginning of the last Russian drive. In six weeks Dr. Mott added, 230,000 passed through Kiev. "I found," Dr. Mott said, "that reports as to the treatment of prisoners were exaggerated. In all of the countries the prisoners received virtually the same food and care."

DOCK WORKERS QUIT; REFUSE SETTLEMENT

Three Hundred Men Strike at Superior, Affecting Every Dock in the City.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Superior, Wis., Aug. 10.—Striking Superior coal dock workmen today turned down a proposition to consult with dock officials when a motion was made at a mass meeting and voted to seek assistance in Duluth to win the fight. Officers of companies to take dock officials to court and to pay originally demanded scales for common labor of thirty cents an hour with forty cents for overtime and Sunday, have been ignored. The men hold out for an additional increase of 22 cents, a total of five cents an hour. More than 300 men are out, in fact, and practically every one of Superior's fifteen docks is affected.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Aug. 10.—Thirty-five cases of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) and four deaths were reported in Wisconsin in the period from July 1 to August 9, according to an announcement by the state board of health today. Most of the cases are mild scattered and in no section can the disease be said to have taken epidemic form. Several cases have occurred in a number of cities. The report follows: Green Bay, 5; Wood River, Burnett county, 1; Wood Lake, Burnett county, 1; New Holstein, 1; Deerfield, 1; Fond du Lac, 1; Lake Mills (town), 2; Wausau, 1; Wisconsin, Marathon county, 1; Schofield, 1; Tomah, 1; West Bend, 4; Menasha, 1; De Pere, 1; Polk, Langlade county, 1; Elton, Langlade county, 1; Jan Prairie, 1; Appleton, 3; Nortonville, 1; Oshkosh, 1; Rock, 1; Navarino, Shawano county, 1; Totals, 35.

APPLETON GERMANS RETURN ON BREMEN

Three Ordered to New York by Consul to Take Passage on Expected U Boat Merchantman.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Appleton, Wis., Aug. 10.—The Bremen will return all Germany with a number of German soldiers now in this country, according to a letter received by Fred S. Cortz of this city from the German consul at New York. Advice was received by Cortz that William Hemling and Jacob Jess to report at once to New York, where they will be picked up by Bremen and sent to Germany. All three men have been here for three years, and come from families of German nobles. The German war law provides that if these men return to Germany after the war, they will be imprisoned and their lands confiscated, but if they return before the war ends, they will be free from this disgrace. All three men left last night for New York.

MINERS TAKE VOTE; OPPOSED TO STRIKE

Minnesota Iron Range Difficulty Shows No Promise of Becoming Serious.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Crosby, Minn., Aug. 10.—When a vote was taken last night among the miners working on the Cuyuna range, the total returns showed 704 votes against a strike and 36 favoring it. The miners' union, however, did not include the 135 miners who voted against a strike. The situation remains unchanged today. Local mine operators stated they had received no request for demands from the strikers, but the latter simply walked out.

FLOOD TAKES HEAVY TOLL IN WEST VA.

A HUNDRED DIE IN DEVASTATION CAUSED BY CLODBURST ALONG CABIN CREEK AND COAL RIVER.

STATE GUARDS CALLED

Militia Called Out to Aid in Rescue and to Prevent Pillaging in Mining Towns.—One Village Wiped Out.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 10.—Rescue parties worked desperately today in effort to make their way up the Cabin Creek and Coal River valleys, which for twenty miles southward from the Kanawha river were devastated yesterday by a cloudburst which left in its wake a deadly toll estimated at more than 100 persons and property loss of at least $2,000,000. Recover 23 Bodies. Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 10.—Twenty-three bodies have been recovered from the debris carried down by the flood which swept the Cabin Creek valley near here yesterday. Rescue parties have scoured every hand above Cabin Creek Junction, but neither reports brought back by couriers nor from the railroads, indicate that the loss of life has been heavy, although no accurate estimate can be made. Persons driven from homes to the mountains, are returning to find whole villages of mining cabins swept away, while distress and suffering is seen on every hand. Two companies of the second West Virginia infantry were taken to Cabin Creek Junction for relief work. They carried provisions and tents. A special train was made up here to go as far as the hastily repaired tracks will permit on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, where provisions.

Reports reached here today from United States Commissioner Howard Smith, who led a relief party for a number of mining companies last night, state that looting had commenced and a number of arrests had been made and some properly recovered. The commander of the military has been ordered to detain order, guard property and restore order, leaving the greater part of the relief work to the civilian rescue party. Coal companies in the valley estimate that many thousands of dollars will be needed to feed and clothe the helpless miners and their families, as scores of them have lost all their possessions. Town Washed Away. Huntington, W. Va., Aug. 10.—A report reached here this morning to the effect that the town of Boone, in Boone county, of 500 inhabitants, in Boone county, was washed away in yesterday's cloudburst, and that the lives of its populace have lost their lives. Wreckage in Ohio River. Gallipolis, O., Aug. 10.—The Ohio river here is filled today with wreckage from the Cabin Creek cloudburst. Parts of houses and bridges and thousands of logs and vast quantities of lumber composed the mass of debris which has stopped navigation by river or boat. It is believed that some of the victims may be going down the river in the wreckage. Whole Section Swept Clean. Huntington, W. Va., Aug. 10.—That section of Gerrold valley between Fields and Jones Creek was swept clean by the waters, according to reports here. It is said that at least 500 houses were washed away. The inhabitants had no warning of the approach of the water, and it is believed, the loss of life may be even greater than that on Cabin Creek. More than 2,000 residents of the valley are perched on the hills tops, the majority of them without sufficient clothing and all of them in danger of starvation. Because of isolated nature of section relief will be slower in reaching there than in other affected sections, and fears are felt many of those saved from the flood, perished of starvation.

"Ambassador Gerard probably will join the emperor at the headquarters on the western front."

ANTIMONY PRICE COLLAPSES; CHINESE MILLIONAIRES BROKE

Hankow, China, Aug. 10.—Antimony prices have collapsed and scores of Chinese who were millionaires on a few months ago, are now computing their liabilities.

The demand for antimony was so keen early in the war and the supply was so limited that prices soared. Many new mines were opened, and reduction plants were built. Human province is the greatest antimony producing center of the world, and Changsha is the center through which most of the ore is handled. That city became a regular El Dorado, and fortunes were made over night, and for a time there seemed to be no limit to the prices which producers could command from firms that required the metal to harden shell cases for the various armies.

At one time antimony in crude sealed form commanded over eight hundred dollars a ton. Speculators predicted the ore would bring fifteen hundred dollars a ton, and acted on that prediction.

The metal trade suddenly adjusted. The output of antimony, which is used only in very small quantities by ammunition makers, exceeded the supply. Ore which at one time sold in New York at fifty cents a ton, has now dropped to fifteen cents a ton, and the wind has gone out of the sails of the Changsha boosters.

Many of the antimony producers now have one way from Changsha to New York where it is marketed to bankers for more than the present market price of the metal.

Within the past few weeks antimony producers of the Changsha district have organized an association for the purpose of steadying the market by limiting the output. They predict that they will be able to restore prices to their highest level within a short time but as yet have produced no appreciable effect on the market.

FRENCH CENSOR TO PASS ON ALL THEATRICAL CONCERNS SHOWING OUTSIDE OF FRANCE

PARIS, Aug. 10.—The censor has taken in hand the repertoire of French theatrical companies playing abroad since a piece of law by a French company was passed in Madrid the other day. The government considers that the good renown of the country requires that when its artists make foreign tours, their programs represent what is best instead of what is worst in French dramatic art. All impresarios sending theatrical companies out of the country are now obliged to submit the pieces they intend to play to the censor before passports are given to the company.

A gradual returning to the extreme freedom which prevailed at times before the war in the designing of posters has also been checked by the prefect of police. He has issued an ordinance requiring that, after July 1, no posters for advertisements can be posted on the walls of Paris unless the text and the designs have been approved by his office.

LOCAL GOLFERS ARE DEFEATED IN PLAY

Wilcox, Tallman, Schaller Lose in Close Game at State Golf Tournament at Kenosha.

Janesville's contingent of contenders for the state golf championship honors met a decided setback Wednesday when Wilcox, Tallman and Schaller all lost their games by narrow margins.

R. P. Cavanagh, Kenosha's golfing star, after scoring even par for the thirty-six holes of the qualifying round for the state golf title, with Ned Allis, his greatest rival for the championship, ten strokes behind, started in his effort to eliminate the Allis family by defeating Louis Allis, father, in the first match play round, 8 up and 6 to play. If he meets Ned, the son, it will not be until the finals, for the two are bracketed at the opposite ends of the pairings of the thirty-two contestants, of whom sixteen remained after Wednesday's first match play round.

The scoring was good, considering the difficult character of the course, as it required a total of 180, or two cards of 90, to get into the honor thirty-two, and Milwaukee landed nearly half of the total number of the Kenosha placed eight men in the first round. The break of the pairings and the results of the first eliminator round give the fastest balanced field in the history of state golf.

The championship flight results were:

R. P. Cavanagh (Kenosha) defeated Louis Allis (Milwaukee), 8 up and 6 to play.

R. N. Bullen (Oconomowoc) defeated G. J. Carroll (Blue Mound), 1 up.

A. A. Jonas (Blue Mound) defeated H. J. Trowbridge (Kenosha), 2 up and 1 to play.

C. C. Allen (Kenosha), defeated J. C. Wilcox (Janesville), 6 up and 5 to play.

S. H. Hadfield (Blue Mound), defeated P. S. Dickinson (Appleton), 4 up and 3 to play.

Hamilton Vose (Milwaukee) defeated H. E. Williams (Racine), 4 up and 3 to play.

C. D. Barnes (Kenosha) defeated S. D. Tallman (Janesville), 1 up.

CONFUSED AUTOMOBILIST BREAKS STORE WINDOWS WHEN CAR BACKS UP

H. R. Page, a gardener residing on 1032 Milton avenue, confessed Wednesday that he had broken the windows of a store when he tried to turn his five passenger automobile around on Milwaukee street, half between Main and Bluff streets, last evening about six o'clock. He backed to the wall and crashed into the windows of the Morrissey Millinery store breaking them.

DRILLS NIGHTLY IS PRESENT SCHEDULE

Captain Hans Jaeke Gives His Men Preliminary Work Preparatory to Receiving Equipment.

Captain Hans Jaeke believes in taking the members of his new Janesville company in as good a state of preparation as possible against the time when their equipment arrives. In view of this he is putting the members through nightly drills setting up exercises, facing and marching formations.

The number who take part varies some evenings fifty will be in line and again there will be but a score or so. Both Captain Jaeke, Lieutenant Frills and Lieutenant Worthington are active in this work, assisted by many of the enlisted men who have had previous military training. No appointments of the non-commissioned staff has yet been announced and it is probable that "it will not be made public until after the equipment is received and the regular drills start."

The question of an armory is still undecided. The selection lies between three cities, which includes the Auditorium and two locations on Milwaukee street. It is expected that a decision will be reached within a day or two definitely and a lease signed. Until the company is installed in its own armory it can not be reported to the federal government and inspected and the government equipment issued.

There have been numerous applications for enlistments and Captain Jaeke expects the new men on as soon as the present physical examinations are completed. There have been several rejections on account of weight, eye sight, heart trouble and other conditions. Dr. Mansworth expects to complete his inspection within the next few days.

TRAIN WRECK; CATTLE STOLEN; 4 WARRANTS

SETS AT REST VERY MALICIOUS REPORTS

A. G. Jones Makes Statement in Denial of Rumors Circulated to Injure Commercial Club.

For some time past persons with malicious intent have circulated reports throughout the city that certain directors of the Commercial club had taken A. G. Jones of the Jones Drug and Bleach Works, to task for the wage schedule he was maintaining. That no official denial of the tale was made, the persons instigating the report even went so far as to name certain individual directors as persons who had visited Mr. Jones to protest the wage scale and described the manner of their reception by Mr. Jones.

The story was of course made out of whole cloth, but it has grown to such proportions that it is time to set at rest all idle rumors tending to discredit the work of the Commercial club. This organization is organized to build up Janesville, and its directors are earnest and unselfish business men who devote much time and money toward the advancement of the city. It is unfortunate that the persons of such narrow temperament exist that they would willfully malign these gentlemen, but Mr. Jones' statement, published below, should set at rest all truths of the report.

Janesville, Wis., August 9, 1916.

To the Public:

Rumors have been circulated certain members of the board of directors of the Commercial club have taken me to task and complained about the way I run my business and the wages I pay my employees. I wish to state that no criticism or ever made by any of them and no feelings other than a friendly one exists between the directors and myself.

Any reports to the contrary have no foundation in fact whatever, and are absolutely false.

Respectfully,

A. G. JONES.

NATION CANVASSED ON WAR RESOURCES

Appleton Business Men Get Blanks From U. S. Advisory Board Asking for Information.

Appleton, Wis., Aug. 10.—The first indication of the work to be done by the United States advisory board, of which Edison, Marconi and Maxime are members, is seen in the blanks now being received here, asking minute information regarding resources of various local firms, according to a prominent local business man who himself received one asking that information regarding whereabouts of all local electricians be supplied by himself, together with shipping facilities of his plant, with railway connections.

According to this man, the board is now carrying on a gigantic inventory of the whole United States to be used as valuable information in case this country ever goes to war. The board plans to have such information where before sending any troops into a local resource of the locality are, its railway connections, its number of skilled mechanical men and other information desired for such a movement. All the skilled electricians or wire operators if needed for service. This is the first time this has ever been done by any nation, according to the business man. He added a local baker had received a card from the board, one of the queries being on how many loaves of bread he could turn out in one week. It is believed that every city in the United States is now receiving the requests.

RAILROAD BUILDER DIES IN ST. PAUL

A. B. Stickney Founder of Great Western and Other Branch Lines Succumbs After Long Illness.

St. Paul, Aug. 10.—A. B. Stickney, 76, founder of the Chicago Great Western Railroad, died at his home here this morning after an illness of one week. He had been in declining health for several years.

Intestinal trouble with complications was the cause of the death by the attending physicians.

Mr. Stickney was born and educated in Maine and later came to the northwest where he organized the Chicago Great Western Railway company. He also was builder of branch lines of several other roads. Illness in 1908 caused his resignation as president of the Chicago Great Western. One of his commercial projects resulted in the founding of the St. Paul Union Stock Yards company at South St. Paul.

WANT 250 BOYS TO LEAD PRIZE STOCK

Boys Who Help in Livestock Parade Friday Afternoon Will Secure Free Admittance.

Secretary Nowlan of the Janesville fair board again called attention to the fact that 250 boys who will lead the prize stock in the livestock parade, scheduled for Friday afternoon at one-thirty, are wanted to report at the main entrance on Milwaukee avenue, promptly at 12:30. It is an opportunity to enjoy the fair that few boys will care to miss. Boy Scouts who report will wear their uniforms.

The livestock parade will be worth traveling miles to see, according to stock raisers who have inspected the Janesville exhibit. Seldom is there a chance to see such an assemblage of high class stock, the total value of thousands of dollars. Prize animals will be decked with their ribbons. The parade will pass directly in front of the grandstand and as far as the quarry mile post on the mile track, then counter-march, returning to the stock sheds.

MACADAM ROADS N. G. SAY U. S. EXPERTS

Highways of This Make Far Too Expensive and Do Not Warrant Wear for Cost.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Washington, August 9.—"The macadam road," said the United States Office of Public Roads today, "is particularly adapted to main highways connecting centers of population, but is too expensive for rural roads and for main highways or pikes." The department has been investigating. From 12 to 15 feet is recommended as a suitable width, provided the road is flanked on each side with firm shoulders from 3 to 5 feet wide, to prevent shearing of the sides by wheels.

The macadam method of road construction was first introduced about the beginning of the nineteenth century in England by a Scotchman named John Loudon Macadam. The chief features of this construction, which has since become one of the foremost methods of road-building in every country of the world, are: a sub-surface of broken stones, and a surface of broken stones, not larger than 2 1/2 inches in diameter and of uniform size, and a surface binding of some dust and screenings.

During the last forty years this method has been modified and the stone fragments are graduated in size with the coarser stones at the bottom.

Recently various bituminous preparations have been added to the surface of binders. Heavy petroleum oils, asphalt, bituminous cement and tar mixtures are now used largely for this purpose. The addition of some such binding material renders the road impervious to the damaging action of water and forms a hard smooth, resilient surface.

Although it formerly was thought necessary to surface the road with a layer of macadam from 8 to 12 inches in depth, Uncle Sam's road experts declared the surface should be as thin as 6 inches with durability—not over 6 inches deep in any case and often only three. This saving of surface material greatly lowers the cost of the road, without detracting from its wearing qualities in the least, they contend.

The road-bed should be of porous material, well-drained, and should be free from clay or loam.

Grades exceeding 6 feet to every 100 feet of road are considered excessive for heavy traffic. Curves with less than 200 feet radius should be avoided. Build around the slope of a hill—not over it. Build as straight as possible, always considering grading of first. A special recommendation is made by the Office of Public Roads that the surface crossing of railroad tracks be circumscribed through culverts.

Trap rock is considered by the Government experts as the best for road-building purposes, although some give good results. The United States of Public Roads tests samples of rock submitted to it without charge, and furnishes advice as to the fitness of any sample for road-building.

The cost is entirely dependent on local conditions and the availability of materials. However, an estimate of the cost of the macadam surface, placed at the average cost of the material, where imported trap rock is used, at approximately $3000 to $5000 per mile for a 15-foot road with an average depth of 5 inches. Where a good local stone is immediately available the cost of the surface may be as low as $2500 to $3000 per mile.

In Massachusetts, the actual cost of imported trap rock, in place and rolled, was $170 a ton, and 3.18 square yards of surface at 5 inches depth. Local stone was secured in this instance at $122 a ton.

Construction of macadam roads as of any other kind, in the opinion of the U. S. Road bureau should always be under the direction of an experienced road engineer, if best results are to be obtained.

Spear Head is the choicest of all red Burley, hand-stemmed and made in mellow-sweet plugs in a perfectly clean, most sanitary factory.

You can't chew the flavor out of Spear Head, because it's a part of the tobacco. That rich, ripe red Burley taste keeps on pleasing you as long as you keep on chewing.

FOODS THEY BUILD OR DESTROY

Amazing but rarely suspected truths about the things you eat.

By ALFRED W. McCANN (Copyright, 1916, by Alfred W. McCann.)

CHAPTER 95.

Dr. M. E. Jaffa of the University of California, studying the abuse of the dried fruit industry, declares that the industry now dependent upon the use of sulphurous acid for its future would rather retire from business than think that their product is causing injury to health—in the meantime the use of sulphurous acid continues.

The food and drug laboratory of the University of California has shown many symptoms of worry over the sulphurous acid situation.

Dr. M. E. Jaffa, who is profoundly interested in the dried fruit question from a California point of view, issued a statement which was published in Volume 13, Nos. 8 and 9 of the monthly bulletin of the dairy and food division of the Pennsylvania department of agriculture, October, 1915.

Dr. Jaffa frankly declares: "Important as the dried fruit industry is, the grovers and packers would be more than willing to retire from business if they thought their product was causing injury to health."

"The process of sulphuring dried fruit started some thirty years ago and has continued ever since. No discussion of any moment occurred until the publication of Food Inspection No. 76 in the early part of the summer of 1907."

"This decision, as we all know, limited the amount of sulphurous acid to 350 milligrams per kilo. This decision made its appearance at a very unfortunate time as far as the California grower was concerned, as the contracts for the season were practically closed and harvesting begun."

"Both the grower and the packer were, to say the least, in a very disturbed state of mind. Many strenuous objections were made against this limitation, which was far below the amount of sulphurous acid usually found, and if such limitations were adhered to there could be no drying of fruits by the sulphur process."

"Appeals were made directly to the secretary of agriculture with the result that an extensive investigation was ordered. In undertaking this work it was aimed to ascertain as far as possible commercial conditions."

Dr. Jaffa does not describe the excitement which Washington witnessed when the sulphurous acid crowd descended upon the capital.

The representatives of the dried fruit industry, driven to desperation by the threats of the government to interfere with their long established custom, indulged in so much hysteria that his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Ives.

Mrs. Willard Arnold and children of Beloit, are visiting his mother, Mrs. Fanny Arnold.

Ben Weaver and family and Miss Mattie Welch spent Tuesday in White-water.

The Yanks claim there isn't a better pitcher in their league—always excepting the immortal Walter J. Rife and Bob Shawkey. It doesn't show in the dope perhaps, because lots of other Yank pitchers get credit for games that Shawkey really won. He has finished more games than any other three pitchers on the staff. He usually goes in to pitch a game after someone is getting beat up and he's more valuable to the team than half the rest of them. Also he's a hard worker and in fact that's probably why he's now a great pitcher. By working hard and often Bob overcame his wildness which held him back when he was with the Athletics. And now he's the backbone of the Yank pitching staff.

that to this day its echoes can be heard.

The political preserve applied was so powerful that it practically squeezed Dr. Jaffa out of the situation and established a period of license which has persisted ever since.

As a result of the row "experiment stations" were established at Corning to solve the problems of the northern Sacramento valley.

Another "experiment station" was established at the ranch of J. H. Gilke, representing the lower Sacramento valley.

A third station was established at Abbott, twelve miles south of Marysville, for taking data on pears.

A fourth station was established at Yuba City at Rancho Sutter, for the study of the bleaching of Thompson's seedless grapes.

A fifth station was established near Vaca Villa, in the Vaca Valley, on the ranch of T. L. Gates. This station was established for the purpose of studying what is known as the Ruby prune, described by Professor Jaffa as a "prune which is not a variety of prune, but which is the ordinary French prune of commercial type, picked green, dipped in a lye solution to check the skin and sulphured to give it a brilliant red color instead of the ordinary black of the French prune."

A sixth station was established at Suisun for the purpose of studying sulphured dried peaches and apricots.

A seventh station was established at Keelerville, Lake county, to study the sulphuring of dried apples and Bartlett pears.

An extended report of the investigation of the data obtained in these stations was made by the chief of the federal laboratory at San Francisco to the secretary of agriculture. The report has never been published. Several years have elapsed since it was made.

During the ten years which have passed since these and other investigations have been conducted, the role played by sulphurous acid, not alone in dried fruits, molasses, and hamburger steaks, but in sweets and beverages has never been associated with the role played by denatured breadstuffs, and impoverished breakfast foods in connection with the untimely deaths annually of 400,000 children under ten years of age in the United States.

During this period the effects of sulphurous acid on the health of vegetation has been dragged into the courts and many decisions rendered. Before leaving the dried fruit situation as it affects human health, we shall take note of these vegetation decisions.

PARK MEETINGS SHOW HOME COMING SPIRIT

GEN. J. B. DOE OF MILWAUKEE IS PRINCIPAL SPEAKER AT LAST NIGHT'S GATHERING.

MUSIC A RARE TREAT

Miss Gallaher, Miss Wenger, Mr. Dalley and Bower City Band contribute to Musical Program.

An immense crowd gathered in the big tent at the court house park last evening for the second in a series of the Home-Coming. After a brief concert on the downtown corner, the Bower City band appeared and gave an inspiring overture as a first number, and then rendered an accompaniment to a brand new topical song given by Robert Dalley. This took the audience by storm so that he was obliged to repeat the last verse as an encore.

The chairman of the meeting then introduced Mr. Malcolm Mowat, who was described as Janesville's "Prime Minister." Mr. Mowat said that he was notified that he was expected to say anything only to fill in the time while the band was changing its music. But that he wanted to improve the opportunity to inform the people in Wisconsin that the greatest fair in the country was being held at the fair grounds at the present time. That the showing of cattle and fine horses had never been excelled in the history of the fair. That he hoped everyone would take special pains to attend the fair and induce everyone they met to do so.

Miss Gallaher Pleases.
Miss Leila Gallaher, introduced as the Push Nightingale, gave the Butterfly Waltz Song which is sung so often by Geraldine Farrar. Miss Gallaher was in perfect voice and her production of music was a treat. She was obliged to respond to a request and did so by giving "A Perfect Day," by Carrie Jacobs Bond.

The chairman announced the pleasure of the committee in being assured of the presence of Mrs. Bower in the city for the Home-Coming and of the fact that she would sing at the program on Friday evening.

Address by Gen. Doe.
Mr. Doe spoke feelingly of his former residence in this city and of the fact that he should always consider Janesville his home town. He said that his experiences here were the best training that any young man could have for a business career—that of a small city. He spoke of the fact that he had always had in great respect for the people of Janesville, and that he had always had in great respect for the people of Janesville, and that he had always had in great respect for the people of Janesville.

Miss Wenger Sings.
Miss Wenger, who was introduced as the "German Beauty," sang "Roll On, Beautiful World, Roll On." The song was a treat to the audience. She has a sweet voice and her notes are clear and true. She has given a pleasure during the week to her audiences in her rendition of popular ballads.

Mr. Dalley closed the evening's program by a rousing interpretation of "Yankee Doodle." After the address by Gen. Doe, the program was continued by the Bower City band. The band played a variety of popular music, and the audience enjoyed it very much.

BRITISH ADMIRAL'S DEATH RECALLED IN REMINISCENCE OF SAMOA HURRICANE IN '89

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Sydney, Australia, Aug. 10.—That thrilling incident at the height of a hurricane at Apia, Samoa, in 1889 when the crew of the foundering United States warship Trenton cheered the British warship Calliope as the latter fought her way to the beach out of the harbor to the open sea and safety has been recalled in Sydney by the death in the Jutland naval battle of Rear Admiral Horace L. Hood of the British navy. Hood was a shipman on the Calliope on that occasion as were other youths who have since been more or less conspicuously engaged in this war. Some of them were killed in the North Sea when they commanded the Monmouth, who was sunk by the Germans off the coast of Chili; Wilmet S. Nicholson who commanded the Hogue when she was sunk in the North Sea; and John C. T. Clossop who commanded the Emden off Cocos Island; Sidney R. D. Emden who commanded the Chatham when he "bottled up" the German cruiser Koenigsberg; and Cecil H. Fox who commanded the Amphion when she was blown up by a mine and later commanded the Undaunted when she was sunk by German destroyers.

HIGH CLASS DISPLAY OF POULTRY AT FAIR

OVER SIX HUNDRED CHOICE BIRDS ARE EXHIBITED BY PROMINENT FANCIERS.

MACHINERY EXHIBIT

Showing of Up-to-Date Agricultural Implements Will Equal That of Any County Fair.

Janesville's big fair and live stock exposition has an entry list in the poultry and waterfowl department of over six hundred and fifty birds. This is by far the largest exhibit that has ever been shown at the local fair in the past few years and it has some of the best birds that have ever been exhibited at a show in Wisconsin.

Judge E. Roberts of Fort Atkinson, when he commenced judging yesterday, stated: "This is the best gathering of birds that I have ever seen. Everyone is the highest grade of its breed and it shown at a national poultry show they would be prize winners. The poultry department are the fair was one of the first in which judging was completed."

Accommodations Excellent.
A representative of a well known poultry magazine, who is present at the local show, said that the poultry department had better accommodations than any fair that he had ever visited. All available space in the hall is taken up with the fine display.

Among the most prominent and largest exhibitors at the fair is George Smith of the Chicago Garment Manufacturers' Fall Style show at Bismarck gardens said so today.

If it isn't purple velvet it will be brown velvet, or black velvet. There will be a great deal of velvet in women's hats this fall, especially for the milliners.

Women's fall wearing apparel continued the center of attraction today for Chicago visitors attending the show.

Not the least of this show was the display of hats. The purple ones seemed to attract the most attention, probably because the wholesalers had whispered that "Women will like the purple ones," and "They're all the rage" and a few other well directed remarks that make "this year's styles" always the prettiest.

After the purple velvets, buyers planned to take home with them for their own wear, black velvet hats and a lot of chic, wide brimmed white hats with a bright colored crown and a narrow ribbon to match the crown, on the trim.

The sport hat this fall is a floppy felt affair with not much of anything on it but a band.

"It'll take, thought," wholesalers said.

ENGLAND MUST RE-AFFOREST. WAR USES ALL HER TIMBER.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

London, Aug. 10.—So much timber is being used for the war it is said by advocates of a government scheme for re-afforestation that in the next ten years the British Isles will be entirely denuded of timber.

One feature of the situation is that some pre-war sources of supply are no longer available. Fifty-five per cent of timber imported in normal times came from Russia, Sweden and Germany, four per cent from Norway, and 41 per cent from France, Portugal and Spain. Since the war this country has had to rely partly on supplies from Norway and Sweden and largely on French and Portuguese supplies, to make good the deficit from woods and forest in the British Isles.

To maintain the supply the nation is making huge incursions into its own standing timber. It is impossible to travel by rail through parts of Scotland without seeing the wholesale cutting of trees. The axe is making a clear sweep of whole woods.

There are only three million acres of wooded land in the United Kingdom at the present time.

WEDNESDAY QUIET IN POLICE CIRCLES

Considering Crowds and Influx of Automobiles and Rigs, Record Is Commendable.

Aside from breaking up a little party of four back of the court house and the arrest of a fifth man for quiet corners, but with an efficient method of getting them on the move, little delay was felt and no accidents occurred. With almost enough policemen to stock a military company, the congestions were speedily eliminated.

Old Braden, John Flood, Arthur Wallum and Noah Erickson, all of Stoughton, were picked up in the park after they had consumed several bottles of whiskey and wood alcohol. They spent the night at the city hall, as did Fred Daniels, well known about the station lately. Daniels and his wife left this morning for Woodstock, where the latter says her husband has a job.

Aside from a minor automobile accident on West Milwaukee street, this proved to be the only instance of any record being made on the police blotter. No accidents nor robberies were reported.

HER HAT WILL BE PURPLE VELVET—THE FASHION SHOW SAYS SO

SUFFRAGE LEADERS WIN HUGHES OVER TO THEIR CAUSE

HOW WOMAN'S PARTY SAYS IT CAN PUNISH ENEMIES OF SUFFRAGE

Twelve suffrage states elect one-third of the electoral college and cast one-third of the votes necessary to elect a president. In the last five presidential elections not one of these has gone steadily for any one party. In 1912 a chance of 38 votes would have made California's electoral votes democratic instead of progressive; 376 votes Wyoming and 556 Idaho, republican instead of democratic. In none of the equal suffrage states would a change of more than 7.5 per cent of the total vote have been required to swing the presidential election in 1912.

For the congressional election from the same situation prevails.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 10.—What the woman's party will do at the polls November 7 will be settled at the conference of the party's national executive committee opening here today.

With scores of conferences, all leading up to a decision on their choice for president, leaders from the twelve suffrage states composing the party met here today to decide which way to throw the 1,000,000 votes they claim to control.

Four speakers will train their guns on the male politicians tonight—Miss Younger, California, secretary of the national council of the congressional union; Mrs. Florence Bayard Hilles, Delaware, chairman of the Delaware branch of the congressional union; Mrs. William Kent, California, chairman of the recently formed Wilson Non-Partisan League; and Mrs. Sara Bard Field of Oregon.

The conference here have just one motive: to force passage of the constitutional amendment permitting women to vote. If the Democrats don't show signs of passing it quickly they declared today, 4,000,000 votes are going to go republican, or socialist, or wherever they will do the most good or harm.

To back their threat to rock the boat in the coming election, the women have set figures which they say, ought to frighten the most healthy democrat. One of them is that they control enough votes to elect either a republican or a democrat.

Miss Anne Martin of Reno, chairman of the national committee of the party, will preside tonight at the opening of festivities. The reception this afternoon was called at the Bluffs, home of Mrs. Leonard E. Curtis.

PHILIPP MAY GRANT A PARDON TO DIETZ

Governor Said to be Impressed With New Evidence Presented in Behalf of Cameron Dam Defender.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 10.—That Gov. E. L. Philipp is impressed with the new evidence presented in the bearing of the application of John F. Dietz, the hero of Cameron dam, for a pardon was indicated last night when the governor said that some of the witnesses would be called before him to give testimony. J. R. Davis, district attorney of Sawyer county, will be given ten days to file a reply brief to the argument made by Attorney E. H. Naber of Mayville for a pardon.

Attorney Naber presented the statements of five of the twelve jurors who convicted Dietz, asking for his pardon. The other three jurors could not be found, Naber said.

Witness Britton testified that he saw a rifle sticking from the roof of John Dietz' barn and that it was a .30-06 caliber. He also testified that he saw a rifle barrel sticking from the roof of Dietz' barn and that it was a .30-06 caliber.

Judge A. H. Reid filed a letter opposing the pardon of Dietz. He says there can be no doubt but that Dietz was guilty. He suggests to the governor that Justice S. A. Rosenberry be called upon with reference to the matter.

Mr. W. S. Blunt of Waupun, who made an examination of John Dietz on Monday says that the prisoner is in poor health, suffering from organic trouble.

All of the other members of the Dietz family were at the hearing before Gov. Philipp yesterday afternoon. While the legal argument and the presentation of the new testimony was made, Attorney Naber, who is representing Dietz, presented evidence supplied by Clarence Dietz, District Attorney Davis said that this was the first time he had heard that the jurors wanted Dietz pardoned and wanted time to get evidence to explain the matter. At the conclusion of the hearing, Gov. Philipp announced that all of the testimony in this matter would be taken into consideration; that he would call Britton before him to give evidence, and that in all probability he would call all of the attorneys for further examination of the evidence.

Gov. Philipp granted a pardon to W. H. Kennerd of Forest county, convicted of obtaining money under false pretenses. He refused pardons to Joseph Pochs of Ashland, who was charged with life term for murder; to Carl Neuman of Milwaukee, convicted of rape; to Peter Rockman of Waupaca, convicted of murder and sentenced to life term; to George Grov of Milwaukee, sentenced to the house of correction for a term of one year for running a house of ill fame.

Burles Owen of Madison, who burglarized the Walzinger store here last winter and was sentenced to one year, had his sentence cut to six months. This will make him eligible for parole. Arden Brunner, of Janesville, had his sentence commuted from two years and six months to two years and Claus Johnson of Milwaukee and Claus Johnson of Milwaukee, sentenced to the house of correction for a term of one year for running a house of ill fame.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Oh My! What Does Father Expect Anyway?

"Is that what you're planning to blackmail it out of him?"

Lilas paused in her dressing and turned slowly, brows lifted. Her dark eyes met the blue ones unwaveringly.

"Blackmail? What are you talking about?" Mrs. Croft went pale, and retired swiftly but noiselessly into the lavatory, closing the door behind her. "What did Max tell you over the phone?" asked Lilas, sharply.

"Nothing."

"Then where did you get—that?" From Jim.

"Jim's pretty bad, I imagine, but he keeps his badness to himself. No, I've overheard you and Max talking."

"Nonsense. We've never mentioned such a thing. The idea is absurd. I get mad at Jarvis—he's enough to madden anybody—perhaps I'm jealous, but blackmail! Why, you're out of your head."

Lorelei delayed her toilet purposely, and finally dismissed Croft. When quiet had finally descended she opened her door cautiously and peered out. Robert Wharton sat on the top step of the stairway near at hand, but his head rested against the wall, and he slept. Beside him were his high hat, his gloves and his stick. As Lorelei, with skirts carefully gathered, tiptoed past him she saw suspended upon the gleaming white shirt bosom what at first glance resembled a foreign decoration of some sort, but proved to be Mr. Regan's false teeth. They were suspended by a ribbon that had once done duty in the costume of a corymb; they rose and fell to the young man's gentle breathing.

Lorelei telephoned to Merkle on the following day, and about the close of the show that night his card was brought up to her dressing room. A moment later Robert Wharton's followed, together with a tremendous box of long-stemmed roses. She went down a flight apprehensively, for by this time the current tales of Bob's drunken frolics had given her cause to think somewhat seriously, and she feared an unpleasant encounter. More than once she had witnessed quarrels in the alleyway behind the Circuit, where pestiferous youths of Wharton's caliber were frequent visitors.

But Mr. Merkle relieved her mind by saying, "I sent Bob away on a pretext, although he swore you had an engagement with him."

"I'm glad you did. I left him asleep outside my dressing room last night, and I almost hoped he'd caught pneumonia."

Beside the curb a heavy touring car was purring, and into this Merkle helped his companion. "I'm not up on the etiquette of this sort of thing," he explained, "but I presume the proper procedure is supper. Where shall it be—Sherry's?"

Lorelei laughed. "You are inexperienced. The Johns never eat on Fifth avenue, the lights are too dim. But why supper? You can't eat."

"A Welsh rabbit would be the death of me; lobsters are poison," he confessed; "but I've read that chorus girls are omnivorous animals and seek their prey at midnight."

"Most of them would prefer bread and milk; anyhow, I would. But I'm not hungry, so let's ride—we can talk better, and you're not the sort of man to be seen in public with one of Bergman's show-girls."

The banker acquiesced with alacrity. To his driver he said, "Take the Long Island road."

The machine glided into noiseless motion.

"Why do you choose the Long Island road?" asked Lorelei.

"It's pleasant," responded Merkle. "I ride nearly every night, and I like the country. You see, I can't sleep unless I'm in motion. I get most of my rest in a car; there's something about the movement that soothes me."

"How funny!"

"Peculiar, perhaps, but scarcely humorous. I'd be dead or insane without an automobile. I keep four French cars in my garage, all specially built as to spring suspension and upholstery. And I spend nearly every night in one or the other of them. So long as I'm moving fast I manage to catch a miserable sort of repose, but the instant we go slow I wake up. I used to sleep at twenty miles an hour; now I can't relax under thirty. Forty is fine—sixty means dreamless peace."

"It does, indeed, if one happens to have a blowout," laughed the girl. The car was now darting through unfrequented side streets, where the asphalt lay in the shadows like dark pools. Up the approach to the Queensborough bridge it swept, and took the long incline like a soaring bird. Blackwell's island slipped under them, an ink, bottomless pit of despair. The breath of the overheated city changed as by magic, and the thin-faced sufferer at Lorelei's side drank it in eagerly. Even in the dim flash of the passing illuminations she noted how tired and worn he was, and a sudden pity smote her.

"Won't you pretend I'm not here, and drive just as you always do? I won't mind," she said.

"My dear, it's late. You'll need to go home."

"No, no."

"Really?" His eagerness was genuine. "Won't your people worry?"

Her answer was a short, meaningless laugh that made him glance at her curiously. "They know I'm perfectly safe. It's the other way round: a man of your standing takes chances by being alone with a woman of mine."

"Which reminds me of Miss Lynn and Mr. Hammond. You've decided to accept my offer?"

"No. I can't be a hired spy."

"You said over the phone that you had learned something."

"I have. I believe there is an effort on foot to get some of Mr. Hammond's money dishonestly. I have a reason for wishing to prevent it."

"I knew I wasn't mistaken in you," smiled Merkle.

"Oh, don't attribute my actions to any high moral motives! I'm getting a little rusty on right and wrong. Personally, I have no sympathy with Mr. Hammond, and I don't imagine he acquired all of his tremendous fortune in a perfectly honorable way. Besides, he's a married man."

"It isn't alone Jarvis or his family or their money that is concerned," Merkle said, gravely. "Great financial institutions sometimes rest on foundations as slight as one man's personality—one man's reputation for moral integrity. A breath of suspicion of any sort at the wrong time may bring on a crash involving innocent people."

"Hammond at this moment carries a tremendous top-heavy burden of responsibilities; his death would be no mere disasters than a scandal that would tend to destroy public confidence in him as a man."

"Doesn't he know that himself?"

"Perhaps. But his infatuation overtook him at an age when a man is a fool. Young men are always objects of suspicion in the financial world, for their emotions are unruly; but when old men fall in love they are superbly heedless of the consequences. I promised to tell you something about Jarvis, and I will, since you spoke of his married life. From the time he could walk he never knew anything, never heard anything except steel. He became a rolling-mill superintendent almost before he was of age. They say he never did less than two men's work, and often more; but he could make others work, too, and there lay the secret of his success. His mill held the tonnage record for years."

"When the corporation was formed he played a big part in the deal and got a big slice of the profits. He went into other things than steel, and he prospered. He never failed at anything. Jarvis had no vices and but one hobby—at least his vices were neutral, for he had never taken time to acquire the positive kind. His hobby was Napoleon Bonaparte. He read everything there was to read about Napoleon; he studied his life and patterned his own on similar lines. Do I bore you, Miss Knight?"

"No; go on. I'm tremendously interested."

"Well, naturally, Hammond began to consider himself another Napoleon, and his accomplishments were in a way quite as wonderful. He even confided to me once that his idol surpassed him in only one respect—namely, the power to relax. Jarvis had never taken time for relaxation, and he was beginning to wear out; and so—he deliberately set about learning to play. The emperor of France, so history tells us, took his greatest pleasure in the company of women; therefore Hammond sought women. He doesn't know the taste of defeat, so the result was foreordained."

"But surely he thought something of his family," protested Lorelei. "Didn't he consider them?"

"I fancy he wasn't well acquainted with his family. I'm sure he never enjoyed any home life, as we understand it. He lived with a rich old woman who bore his name but scarcely knew him; his daughters were grown women whom he saw on rare occasions and whose extravagant whims he gratified without question. But there was little real intimacy, little sympathy. This was his first taste of youth. But—he was not Napoleon. As you've noticed, he's quite mad on the Lynn woman. He's no longer himself. He has been drugged by her charms, and now he's paying the price. I wanted you to know the story before we went any further. Now tell me what you have learned."

CHAPTER VII.

By the time Lorelei had completed her recital of those occurrences that had excited her suspicions the car was rolling out the roads leading toward the Long Island plains, and with headlights ablaze, was dashing all speed laws. Merkle had drawn the conversation shield rearward, and in its shelter leaned back with eyes closed. He seemed asleep, but after a time he spoke abruptly:

"Melcher is a shrewd man. He wouldn't tackle a blackmailing job of this size without protection; otherwise I could put him out of the way very quickly. I dare say Miss Lynn herself doesn't know who is behind him."

"Why don't you warn Mr. Hammond at once?"

Merkle rolled his head loosely. "You don't know the man. He would laugh at the idea of a plot against him."

Merkle dozed again, half buried in the cushions. They had passed Jamaica, but it was not until it had swept into the Motor parkway that the chauffeur let the machine out. Over the deserted plains it tore, cometlike, a meteor preceded by a streamer of light. The causeway leaped into view and vanished beneath the wheels, like a tremendous ribbon whirling upon spools. Merkle lay back inertly, loitering and swaying to the side-thrust of the cushions, but Lorelei found her fists clenched and her muscles hard with the nervous strain. Finally she pushed the shield forward, and, leaning over the front seat, stared at the tiny dash-light. The finger of the speedometer oscillated gently over the figure "60," and she dropped back with a gasp. They had been running thus for a long time.

Merkle roused to say, "Is this too fast for you, Miss Knight?"

She laughed nervously. "N-no. I'm sorry I woke you."

Merkle inquired the time of his chauffeur, then directed him to turn homeward along the North shore.

"I shan't be selfish and keep you out any longer, Miss Knight," he said. "If you don't mind, I'll doze on the way in, and try to figure out the next move in this Hammond affair."

The return trip was another hurtling rush through the night, in a silence broken only by Merkle's demand for more speed whenever the machine slackened its labor. The miles wheeled past; the Sound lay to the right.

They were sweeping over a rolling North shore road when suddenly out of blackness ahead blazed two blinding headlights. With startling abruptness they appeared over the crest of a rise; Merkle's driver swung to the right.

"I'm Terribly Sorry, Miss Knight."

The strange car held to its course; there was a blast of horns, a dazzling instant of intense illumination, then a crash as the inside mud-guards met. Merkle's car seemed to leap into the air; there was a report of an exploding ture; the automobile was bucking and bumping, as if the pavement had been turned into a corduroy road; then it came to a pause, half in the ditch. The other car held to its course, and whizzed onward, leaving in its wake a drunken shout of mockery and defiance.

"Narrow shave, that. I wonder we weren't all killed," Merkle eyed the car's crumpled mud-guard and running board, then directed his driver to ascertain the extent of the damage. The motor was still throbbing, but a brief examination disclosed a broken steering knuckle and a bent axle in addition to an injured wheel.

"I'm terribly sorry, Miss Knight; but I'll have to send for another car," apologized Merkle.

"Is this splendid machine ruined?"

He shrugged. "That's the curse of these roads. Somebody is always driving recklessly. Lorelei smiled at memory of the miles they had covered so swiftly; but she saw that he was serious and in a sour temper. "One risks his life on the whim of some drunken idiot the moment he enters a motor car. Now for a telephone."

A terse question to his man served to fix their location.

"We're not far from the Chateau," Merkle interpreted the answer. "That place is always open, so if you don't mind the walk we'll go ahead. It will take an hour to get one of my other machines, but meanwhile we can have a bite to eat." At her cheerful acceptance his tone changed.

Dinner Stories

The minister had to leave home on a long preaching tour. Just before leaving he called his family around him to say good-bye. When he came to Bobby he said:

"Old man, I want you to be a good boy and take care of your mother."

Bobby promised. All day long he looked preternaturally grave under the heavy responsibility thus suddenly assumed. When night came and he was called to his prayers the young guardian said:

"Oh, Lord, bless father and brother Tom, and sister Alice, and Aunt Mary, and the little Jones boys and me, but you needn't trouble about mother, for I am going to look after her."

A lady was continually accusing her servant of extravagance without any real cause. The servant always bore this accusation patiently.

One day the servant informed her mistress that the coal had all been consumed. This was followed by the usual remark on the part of the mistress, who finished up by saying: "You evidently eat it!"

The next day the candles were all gone.

"Candles gone!" said the mistress. "Why, I bought half a pound only a fortnight ago."

"Oh, well," rejoined the now disgusted servant, "I can tell you where the candles have gone. I ate them to grease my throat, so that I could swallow the coal more easily."

Jones' opinion of himself as a golfer was very much greater than his skill warranted.

Recently he was invited to play on a certain Scottish ground as a visitor. Armed to the teeth with clubs of all sorts and sizes, he set off and, followed by a caddy, proceeded to play.

He buried his ball in every bunker, gully and bit of grass on the landscape and muttered naughtily. After silent caddy.

"Really," he murmured ingratiatingly, "this is the most difficult course I have ever played on."

"Too did ye ken?" replied the lad in quiet scorn. "Ye hanna played on it yet!"

As a means of disposing of your real estate, the little want ads are sure winners.

Proud of Roman Strain.

The organizing and educational power of the Roumanians reveals itself with incomparable force. The occupation of Trajan Dacia by the Roman colonists lasted less than two centuries (106-270); it was maintained longer. It is true, south of the Danube in Mesia. This short space of time sufficed, nevertheless, to impress upon native populations such a stamp of "Latinity" that today the Roumanian peasant designates himself "Roman" with the same pride as that of the ancients of Rome.

SPORTS

RUNNERS SPEEDIER ON BASE THIS YEAR

Both Major Leagues Developing Better Baseline Work—Cobb Best in American.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, Aug. 10.—More speed is shown on the baselines and in the field this season than was the case a year ago, if the various records of the two major leagues are read aright by those who follow the intricacies of the national sport. Considered as a whole the averages of the players of the American and National leagues show greater hitting ability, better fielding form, and in fact an all-around improvement upon the play of twelve months ago.

A comparison of the base stealing records bear out this statement for it is seen that with few exceptions the leading base stealers of this season are well ahead of their 1915 performances. While Ty Cobb has yet to reach his mark of a year ago, the majority of the leaders are well beyond the total number of bases stolen during the first half of the previous season. The ten leading players in both leagues with their record for both 1916 and 1915 follow:

National League.		American League.
Carey, Pittsburgh	1016	1915	1916
Kauff, New York	27	1	1
Bescher, St. Louis	27	x23	27
G. Burns, New York	20	10	10
Long, St. Louis	19	6	6
Betzler, St. Louis	18	5	5
Daubert, Brooklyn	15	5	5
Fack, Chicago	13	13	13
Dorie, New York	12	12	12
Maranville, Boston	12	8	8

After losing twenty straight games and equalling the American league record for consecutive defeats, set by Boston in 1906, the Macks broke their losing streak, defeating Detroit, 7 to 1. The home team scored its tally in the ninth when Watson, in pursuit of McKee's fly, fell and turned a popup into a three-base hit. Joe Judge, St. Louis, hit the only one of the four hits made off his delivery was legitimate. He struck out nine.

PINCH HITTER DELIVERS AND INDIANS WIN 5 TO 3

Pipp of the Yanks knocked the ball over the right field wall in the sixth inning, putting New York in the lead, 3 to 2. But in the next round Smith batted for Pitcher Coveleskie of Cleveland and duplicated Pipp's feat, driving in Leonard ahead of him and winning the game, 5 to 3. Shawkey was a puzzle except in the first and seventh innings while Coveleskie was batted rather hard.

Connie Mack seems to have picked up the catcher he's been looking for in Pat Haley, who has been doing a high grade of work for Buffalo all season.

THE REBUTTAL WINS 2:15 CLASS TROT; PACE TO HIGHWOOD

Enloe's Horse Makes Good Time in Three Straight Heats.—Takes Five Heats to Decide Race.

Yesterday's races at the Janesville Fair and Live Stock Exposition proved to be a great attraction as hundreds of people packed the grandstand and the bleachers that have been constructed in front of the stand. The crowd was pleased when Sister Magnus Flaws got the horses off in each heat with but few trials. In the 2:15 trot on the half mile track The Rebuttal, owned and driven by W. T. Enloe of Belmont, Wisconsin, picked off the first three heats, winning the race. The best time the little mare made was 2:16 1/4. The first race was for a purse of $400. Doctor Highwood, owned and driven by F. E. Miller of Wisconsin, stepped off the first heat in 2:12 1/4. In the second heat, the horse owned and driven by Omer Amundsen of Beloit, came in first, making 2:14 1/4, the fastest time in this race.

The Wilkner, owned by J. Arson of Hinman, Manitowish, took the third heat, and the next two went to Doctor Highwood in comparatively slow time.

Enloe's three heats were needed to run off the three year old pace on the half mile track, for a purse of $300. Adele Patch, John Nichols' little bay mare, nosed out R. P. Tramp, in an excellent finish in the first heat, making 2:12 1/4. C. A. Nelson of St. Paul, Minnesota, took the last two heats, both at a 2:25 1/4 gait. Following are the summaries:

WHITWATER GIVES FORT A SURPRISE

Fort Atkinson Ball Team Gets a Jolt in the Way of a 6 to 2 Defeat at Fair on Wednesday.

Fort Atkinson's hard knock when the Whitewater nine shut them out after the first inning for the remaining period of the game. The final score was 6 to 2. The Forts came down here loaded up and all the confidence in the world that they would be victorious over their old rivals from Whitewater. But it was short lived. In the first inning Miller and Hale tallied up the only two runs of the game for Fort Atkinson. After this was all for the Fort.

Whitewater came up in the second inning and evened the score. The losers could do nothing for the rest of the inning. In the third the Whites marked up one run and later in the game secured three more making the final score, "Red Grimsby" was on the hill for Whitewater while Eddie Stack supported the Forts in a creditable manner. A large crowd of the Central State league followers were on hand to see the exhibition contest played at the fair grounds this morning. Summaries follow:

SOX DROP LEAD AND GAME IN TWELFTH

Boston Takes Long Contest After Shore and Scott Fight Pitcher's Duel For League Leadership.

The White Sox lost to Boston, 3 to 1 yesterday and as a result also dropped from the league leadership. It took twelve innings for the world's stellar batting and work on the baselines did the work in the third extra inning.

Ernie Shore went the route for the opposition. It was a pitchers' battle all along the line and the Red Sox hurler seemed to have the edge. Shore held the Sox to ten well scattered hits while thirteen safe bowls were secured by Boston off Scott. General Joe Jackson was easy meat for the lanky Red, he fanning four times and hitting once to the infield in five times up.

Boston was favored by a break in the final inning and really won on a nasty bounding ball. Larry Gardner had hit one to short center and Scott followed with a grounder a little to McMullin's left. Chances for a double passed when the ball took a flop to one side and shot through the field for a single. Gardner was stopped at second but Cady followed with a long single to John Collins. He fielded it on the first bound and pegged to the plate but the ball came in a little to the side of Schaik and Gardner

TO RACE HEAVENWARD THRU SUNSHINE, CLOUDS, SNOW, RAIN, HAIL AND WIND

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 10.—A new thrill in auto racing was to be experienced here today when drivers of national fame compete in automobile and motorcycle races up the new Pike's Peak highway.

While this scenic road has no grade over 6 per cent the racers are likely to encounter hail, snow and high winds or pass through clouds before the summit—14,250 feet above sea level—is reached. The new road to the top of the most famous peak in the United States was opened for the full distances on this summer. The races are projected by the corporation which spent nearly $1,000,000 in completing the highway. Any private motorist paying the tolls can run his machine to the top. The races will be held on three days, closing Saturday. Cash prizes total $7,000.

Paul "Nick" Carter, the Indianapolis pitcher who was recently sold to the Chicago Cubs, is one of the three star hurlers of the American Association. Jimmy Middleton, till recently with Louisville and now with the Giants, is one of them, and Ragans with Kansas City is the other. Nick has been making a wonderful record with Indianapolis and should be a consistent winner for the Cubs. The Cleveland Indians may well write when they recall that they once had Carter and let him go to the Hoosiers for approximately a song. The Indians would be most glad to have him now.

PAY A LITTLE MORE AND GET A LOT MORE

Don't put a mortgage on your judgment in buying a car.

There's many a man in this county who paid too low a price for his car—and lived to regret the day.

I am not saying anything against low-priced cars. There are a number of good ones. They do the job well.

I am trying to get people to get a bird's-eye view of the motor car situation instead of a worm's-eye view.

Sometimes by paying a hundred or two hundred more you get $500 extra value.

I refer now to the 1917 3400 r.p.m. Chalmers. Here's a car that has been run more than 1,000,000 miles in the hands of owners, yet attained a service record of 99.21% perfect.

That is the mark of a great car. And though it costs, possibly, a little more than you ever paid for a car before—remember that extra little sum gets you from the zone of a fair car to the zone of a great car.

It is not only money in your pocket in the long run, but pride everywhere you drive. There's a pleasant and interesting satisfaction in driving a regular car.

Price $1090 Detroit—really a $1400 value.

SEE MORE BOXING IN STATE; LAW GOOD

Indications Point to Successful Ring Season in Wisconsin During Fall and Winter Months.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 10.—Wisconsin boxing promoters are making plans for the opening of the season the latter part of September and are predicting a great winter for the game.

Boxing has grown rapidly in popular fashion in the state during the three years which the law permitting ten round, no decision bouts has been in force. Some good mitt artists have been developed.

The boxing commission of which Walter Lightner of this city is chairman, is planning to go before the legislature this year asking a few minor changes in the law. However the commission will advocate no radical change in the legislation.

It is not expected that the opposition to boxing will cut any great figure before the legislature, although there will undoubtedly be a few attempts made to have the act repealed. However on account of the support of the measure, it is doubtful if the opposition will become very strong.

Promoters are figuring on getting together and abolishing guarantees. They are about the only ones who have a kick coming against boxing as a few of them have made money. Clubs started in the small towns were failures in many instances on account of the high guarantees demanded by fighters.

It is planned to have an agreement whereby the boxers would receive a certain percentage of the "gate" without any stipulated amount, being guaranteed. The promoters believe this would be fair to the fighters and at the same time reduce their risk.

Lost and found articles quickly find their owners through the use of the want columns.

NO GOTCH-STECHER MATCH FOR SOME TIME; GOTCH HURT

The injury to Frank Gotch, wrestling champion, will still for some time all talk regarding a match between the title holder and Joe Stecher. Until Gotch recovers from his broken leg he will decide to forego any further attempt to re-enter the wrestling arena.

Sport Snap Shots MORRIS MILLER

John Evers and Miller Huggins had a quarrel recently and there appeared to be small reason for it. It seems that McGraw was ordered off the field a game with the Cards a while ago and he didn't leave. Huggins told the ump that McGraw hadn't left the field and he talked about it so much that he got put off himself. But here's where the fight with Evers comes in. When John heard that Huggins had told for it, McGraw bawled Miller out for it, because John doing the "chickens." It looks like John was picking the scrap. Huggins was within his rights in doing what he did. He knew he had a better chance of winning with McGraw away and it was a part of the game's tactics.

Bat Nelson and Ad Wolgast were not the most liberal champions when they held the lightweight title and they often avoided what might have been good matches and disappointed the fans by refusing to meet anyone over 135 pounds. The champ has the privilege of dictating these things, but the average title holder is usually willing to make a little compromise. Joe Gans was obliged to make 133 pounds in his trunk and shoes to get a bout with Nelson and he needed the big money he did it. That meant something. 131 1/2 pounds stripped and it was too much for Gans and had quite a bit to do no doubt with his failure of health shortly after.

The tennis situation becomes more tense every season. It wasn't long ago when there were three or four leading tennis players in the country who were head and shoulders above all the rest of the field. Now there's a good fifty of leading talent and playing so evenly matched a game that you can't be sure where will appear the next champ. As the game becomes more popular more stars spring up and the national titleholder has a bigger job on his hands.

Quick results follow the use of Gazette want ads. A trial will convince you.
